

Confronting Militarism in the Americas

The truth behind the School of the Americas and U.S Foreign Policy

SOAW Founder

Former US Naval Officer

Proponent of SOAW
Latin American Project

Maryknoll Priest

Missionary to Bolivia

Outspoken Critic of U.S. Foreign Policy

Hear Father Roy Bourgeois

Thursday, March 10th, 2011

7:00 P.M.

Wallingford United Methodist Church (2115 N 42nd St. Seattle)

Fr. Roy Bourgeois is founder of School of the Americas Watch (SOAW), which works to close the SOA and actively challenges U.S. militarism in Latin America. In the past year Fr Roy and the SOAW movement protested at the gates of a U.S. military base in Colombia, participated in the Social Forum of the Americas in Paraguay, and met in Venezuela with activists from 19 Latin American countries to strategize a response to militarism and to build a culture of peace, (and more). Come and learn about what's planned for Washington DC in April and how YOU CAN BE INVOLVED!

For more information visit www.soaw.org

OR contact Local Coordinator at sgregmare@aol.com

206 / 632-1523

Sponsors: School of the Americas Watch, Puget Sound; St. Patrick Social Justice Committee; Wallingford United Methodist Church, Western Washington Fellowship of Reconciliation; Military Families Speak Out; Witness for Peace Pacific Northwest

From I-5, take Exit 169 and go West on NE 45th St. approx. 9 blocks, then left (south) on Bagley Ave N to N 42nd St