CORPORATE FM
the killing of local commercial radio

DJs have a gift of listening to the best of their communities and then presenting that back to them. When live local voices are replaced with prerecorded and satellite programs, it ends an age-old symbiotic relationship between radio and the community. Why did radio DJs lose their power to pick music? See Corporate FM, the film that exposes conglomerate radio and the role of Private Equity in media consolidation. By investigating how the financial system gutted commercial radio instead of growing it, documentary film-makers Kevin McKinney & Jill McKeever show how independent radio is being monopolized by a few corporate owners and the effects on jobs and our communities. (2012, 73min) Join us following the film for a facilitated community discussion.

Friday Night at the Meaningful Movies

Fri, MAY 17, 7:00PM
Keystone Congregational Church
5019 Keystone Place N., Seattle
1/2 Block N of NE 50th; 1 block E of Meridian.
Metro Bus 16, 26 & 44
www.meaningfulmovies.org